Finally, Erap accepts defeat

By the Associated Press

FORMER PRESIDENT JOSEPH E. ESRAP has accepted defeat in the 2010 Philippine presidential election, conceding to the victory of incumbent President Benigno Aquino III.

Erap, who served as president from 2001 to 2010, announced his resignation on Tuesday, June 22, 2010. He said he was "proud to have served the people of the Philippines" and would be "available to assist the new administration in any way possible."

Erap's resignation was a surprise to many, as he had been widely expected to run for a second term in 2010. However, he decided to step aside to allow Aquino III to complete his first term.

President Aquino III congratulated Erap on his decision and said he would be "available to assist the new administration in any way possible."

Erap's resignation was a surprise to many, as he had been widely expected to run for a second term in 2010. However, he decided to step aside to allow Aquino III to complete his first term.

Congratulations pour in for Noy-Bi from all over

President Benigno Aquino III and Vice President Noiden Benigno have received a flood of congratulations from all over the world for their victory in the 2010 Philippine presidential election.

The couple, who were widely expected to win, were inaugurated on Tuesday, June 22, 2010. They received a warm welcome from the people of the Philippines and the world.

Binay seeks DILG post; will not be a spare tire

By Jason M.

MANILA, Philippines—President Benigno Aquino III's decision to appoint his brother, President-elect Jejomar Binay, as the new director of the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG) has raised eyebrows. Binay, who is currently the mayor of Manila, is seen as a potential contender for the presidency in 2016. His appointment to the DILG post is seen as a move to prepare him for a possible run for the presidency.

Art teacher helps teach art to poor kids
A teacher at the University of the South Florida has started a program to teach art to poor kids in the community. The program, called 'Project Art', is a free after-school program for children in the community. The teacher, who is a graduate of the University of the South Florida, has been teaching art for many years. She has started the program to help children in the community learn art and to provide them with a safe place to learn. The program is open to children of all ages and backgrounds. The teacher has been successful in getting many children to participate in the program. She has also been able to get many of the children to continue their art education after they have finished the program. The program has been very successful in helping children in the community learn art and to provide them with a safe place to learn.

6,000 Taal villagers told to move out

By [Name] | [Location]
 A massive evacuation of 6,000 Taal Island residents was ordered by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) on Tuesday, as a precautionary measure against a potential eruption of Taal Volcano. The residents, who have lived on the island for generations, were given only a few hours to pack their belongings and evacuate to the mainland. The evacuation was the largest in the area's history, with residents being moved to various evacuation centers on the mainland. The DENR officials expressed concern that the volcano, which has been relatively quiet for some time, could erupt at any moment, posing a significant threat to the lives and property of the island's inhabitants. The residents, many of whom are farmers, are now facing the loss of their homes and livelihoods. The evacuation centers are overcrowded, and the residents are struggling to cope with the uncertainty of their future. The DENR is working to provide relief and support to the affected residents, but the situation remains tense as the volcano continues to show signs of activity.

Scarp of muds pushes water level up, cuts submerged slivers

The scarp of muds pushed the water level up, cutting off the submerged slivers of the island. The water level rose significantly, submerging the lower parts of the island and cutting off the residents from the mainland. The situation is dire, with the residents trapped on the island and unable to reach the mainland. The DENR is working to provide relief and support to the affected residents, but the situation remains tense as the volcano continues to show signs of activity.

4 Luzon cops endorse modern tracking system to hit kidnaps

Four Luzon cops endorsed a modern tracking system to hit kidnaps. The cops, who are part of a task force, believe that the system will help them track and catch the kidnappers more effectively. The system is a computerized database that stores information about the kidnappers and their activities. The cops will use this information to track the kidnappers and catch them. The system is a significant improvement over the current system, which is outdated and inefficient. The cops are excited about the new system and believe it will help them catch the kidnappers more quickly.

The Philippine Army is hunting for Savaaf, a suspected militant leader, in a region where 400 families have fled. The Army believes that Savaaf is a key figure in the militant group and is working to capture him. The families have fled their homes and are now living in evacuation centers. The Army is conducting a search operation in the area, but has not yet found Savaaf. The situation is tense, and the families are worried about their safety. The Army is working to provide relief and support to the affected families, but the situation remains uncertain.

Comelec issues order ousting Pantilio

Pantilio is the subject of the article. The image shows him in a public setting, possibly during a campaign or event.

The Commission on Elections (Comelec) has issued an order ousting Pantilio. The order is based on the grounds that Pantilio is not a qualified candidate for the upcoming election. The order is a significant development in the election process and will have a major impact on the outcome of the election. Pantilio is a well-known figure in the political arena and his ouster is a major setback for his campaign. The Comelec is working to ensure that the election is fair and free, and this order is a key part of that effort.
